MRP Abstract: In this project I would like to focus on two primary aspects of philosophy---ethics and religion. The history of both Indian and Western philosophy shows various phases that speak of union between ethics and religion. Ethics is a way of life and religion is like the ray of light that illuminates our inner mind to become a moral responsible social being. So, we need both to survive sociality.

However in recent times we see a degradation in the human society. Everywhere we find cases of abuse, terror acts and such other oppression. To reform our social scenario we need to change the minds of the people living in global space. My intention in this project is to find out how this can be done. What are ethical principles that can guide us in reconstructing the society. While suggesting the changes, my proposal is to analyze this from the aspect of Indian Ethics.
